

APPLY NOW FOR A
YOUTH RESIDENCY IN ARMENIA OR DENMARK

JOIN US IN ARMENIA, OR DENMARK

We are looking for young people passionate about social justice, democracy, equality and climate action who want to spend a few weeks abroad working with local volunteers and activists to create engaging activities and learn from each other.

In 2025 the Global Platforms network for youth-led activism is organising youth-in-residence stays for young leaders to connect, learn and share for international cooperation and solidarity around some of the most important struggles in our world today.

As a volunteer, you will spend 2-4 weeks at a local youth hub organising social and cultural events and activities with and for other young people about social issues and youth-led change. The stays are fully financed, and you will be hosted by one of four partner organisations.

APY
Armenian Progressive Youth

ActionAid Denmark

ActionAid Denmark fights for a more just and sustainable world. A world without discrimination, climate crises and poverty. We do this in Denmark – and in more than 45 countries around the world as part of the global ActionAid federation. We work for democracy and influence for vulnerable and underserved people deprived of their rights. We support young people in fighting for their rights. With a strong voice, young people all over the globe can help change the world and build democratic, sustainable societies. The placement will be at our Global Platform youth hub in the city of Aarhus.

Armenian Progressive Youth

Founded in 2009 in Armenia, Armenian Progressive Youth (APY) is a non-profit organization committed to empowering young people and promoting their active participation in decision-making processes. APY provides opportunities for youth to engage in community-driven initiatives, fostering positive change at both local and national levels. The organization works across several strategic areas, including youth participation, economic empowerment, and resilience, while promoting democratic values, social justice, and inclusion.

WHAT YOU'LL BE DOING

As we want you to gain a productive and fulfilling experience, your main tasks will align with your interests and motivation.

You'll be supporting the host organization in campaign planning, engaging young people in activism, learning from the local contexts as well as sharing your experience.

You will meet local civil society communities and activists, and have the opportunity to understand the local context, challenges, and how they are addressed.

WHO CAN APPLY

- 18–30 year old people living in Armenia, Denmark, Georgia or Moldova;
- Speaks sufficient English;
- Commitment to doing a residency abroad between 2 and 4 weeks;
- Are interested and motivated by activism, feminism, and environmental issues;
- Advantage if you have experience volunteering or participating in similar campaigns or projects.
